THURSDAY MORNING, FEB. 22.

The Meeting To-night. To-day is a memorable anniversa-ry in the annals of our country, being the one hundred and thirty-fourth return of the birthday of George Washington. In most of the cities and principal towns it will be appropriately observed. Business will be mostly adjourned in the great commercial cen the Stock Exchange and Gold room will be hushed, and the day will be kept as

The Union men of the Legislature and of the city and all who may be temporarily among us from the different counties of the State, are called together not only to unite in paying homage to the memory of the Father of his country, but also to take counse together in this opening hour of the new era that is dawning upon us as a State mine what we should do as a Union or ganization. In West Virginia a politibefore us, commencing this Spring and ending next Fall. We enter upon a contest for the permanence of our State within the Union of States. It is fit-ting that we should do so before the tive men of the different counties of the they are prepared to speak the mind of their constituents. Before they adjourn it is fitting that our people here in common with all the people of the State should hear from them. Let us meet together this evening and determine upon our duties as well wishers and helpers of the great Union organization of the State and the country. In a few weeks more the responsibilities, includ-ing all the active work, of the canvass, will be upon us, and we are none to ear ly in the field to prepare for what is before us. Our opponents have not been and are not now idle. They are ready to make the issue with us immediately upon the adjournment of the Legisla ture. Let us also be fully prepared. And in order to be prepared, let us com-mence the work this evening.

This important document should have appeared in our columns yesterday, but the copy received from Pittsburgh, having been telegraphed through to that city, was so imperfect that we preferred to await the mails from Washington and give our readers reliable copy of the President's views. This we have done this morning. have read this message with a great deal of interest and we feel bound to mmend it to our readers as in every sense a strong document, and worthy of universal attention. We cannot doubt its good effect on Congress and petition of the inhabitants of that lo-cality, asking such annexation. Mr. Davis advocated the amendment, show-ing the change of boundaries would be requisite at some future time, and there-fore it would be advisable to make it now.

Mr. Cooper opposed the proposition, contending that Mineral county had enough of the territory of Hampshire, and stating that the inhabitants of this valley did not geographically belong with Mineral county, being separated from it by a mountain range. The amendment was rejected by 29 to 16.

Some discussion occurred on the bill

Messrs. Bee and Trainer also advocated the bill, while Messrs. Bell and Goff opposed it in its present form, regarding it as founded on a wrong principle, and setting a bad precedent. They preferred some measure which would leave it optional with the Auditor to enforce such claims as the present. The bill passed.

Washington, February 19, 1866.

We had a delegation here a few days ago, composed of members of the Legislature of Eastern Virginia. This delegation was headed by Mr. Baldwin, Speaker of the House of Delegates, and their object was to call on President Johnson for the purpose of presenting him with a series of long winded resclutions, passed by their Legislature, expressive of great confidence in him as a man, a wise statesman, and a constitutional President. This was done on the principle of not allowing your right hand to know what your left hand doeth, for it has not been many weeks since the members of this committee were denouncing Andrew Johnson in their Legislature, as a usurper and tyrant, whom it would be doing God service to depose or otherwise remove from power. Their head man, Mr. Baldwin, is a renegade Unionist, who turned traitor for pelf and position, and who, during the war, persecuted Unionists to the extent of his ability, and even now scowls and frowns upon the few brave hearts of steel who remained true to their country in its dark hours. He is the same who recently made a secesh speech in the House of Delegates, at Richmond, and at its conclusion nominated Robert E, Lee for Governor of the State. Now isn't he a pretty man "to set before the King!" His fellow-committeemen are of the same sort, suchly. BRICK MACHINE. I have, been for a long time subject to the disease for which it is recommended. I have tried various remedies; but never found one that so completely eradicates the disease as your medicine.
